

Successful Adjunct Struggles in NYC

NYU, New School, Fordham

Friday, Nov. 18, 2022, 2:30 - 4:00 PM
Hosted by the Platform Committee*

Hear from adjunct faculty colleagues involved in organizing campaigns at sister universities in New York City:

- New School – Jaclyn Lovell
- NYU – David Klassen
- Fordham – TBA

How did colleagues at NYU win $13k for a 4-credit course over the course of their contract? What are colleagues at the New School demanding and what do they believe will be the necessary next steps to achieve their goals? What's happening at Fordham after their initial success winning a union and $7k per course several years ago? What can CUNY academic workers learn from the experiences of our colleagues at other NY academic unions?

Register in advance for this meeting:

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting.

There will be plenty of time to ask questions about these neighboring universities and to compare notes on the demands that may arise from our own Vision for Equity for CUNY, drafted by the Platform Committee* with input from many CUNY adjuncts.
